Please keep in mind that your home will seem foreign to your pet for several weeks. Extra precautions will need to be taken to ensure that this animal does not run away because this animal does not realize that this is its home. Windows, doors, and escape routes must be given extra attention until your new pet adjusts to its new home.

I understand: (Initial each of the statements below)

- _____ 1. Adopting an animal is a ten to twenty year commitment.
- _____ 2. Priest River Animal Rescue may prosecute in the event this animal is abused, abandoned, used for fighting or sold for experimentation.
- _____ 3. This is an adoption, not a sale and PRAR reserves the right to postpone, refuse, or rescind any adoption if the new home is found not be in the best interests of the animal.
- _____ 4. Animals, especially puppies and kittens, can be destructive until they learn to be good family members and this take time. Expect a period of adjustment.
- _____ 5. PRAR discloses all health and temperament concerns upon adoption and all adopted pets have received initial healthcare. We cannot guarantee the health of any pet placed for adoption. PRAR is not responsible for veterinary fees incurred after the adoption date.
- _____ 6. All dogs require a protective environment and some dogs will require some type of fencing.
- _____ 7. In the event I am unable or unwilling to keep the adopted pet for any reason, I agree to contact PRAR to discuss options and space availability.
- _____ 8. I understand PRAR will not be held responsible for any bites or injuries sustained from an adopted pet.

Agreement:

By signing this form, I acknowledge that all information on this form is true and correct. I understand that any misrepresentation of facts may result in PRAR refusing adoption privileges to me.
